At 10 o clock A M James L Collins Chief Clerk of the House at its last session called the members elect to order

O Humason of Wasco county, moved that Judge F A Chenoweth from Benton, be appointed Speaker pro tem

The motion was carried and the clerk appointed J D Locey and Cyrus Olney a committee to conduct the temporary Speaker to the Chair

On taking the chair Mr Chenoweth said

Gentlemen You will now come to order As this position to which you have assigned me (for which honor you have my sincere thanks) is one of a merely temporary character I will not detain you but will ask you to proceed without further delay to the organization of the House.

Mr Humason moved that a Committee of five on credentials be appointed by the chair to report the names of gentlemen claiming seats on the floor of the House and entitled to vote in the organization of the same.

Cyrus Olney, of Clatsop said he was not prepared to vote in favor of such a proposition I suppose the Secretary of State has the records of the election returns of those who are entitled to seats here and that he has furnished the Clerk with the necessary roll. A Committee of Credentials is altogether unnecessary The record shows who has the right to vote I should like to hear the roll called.

Mr Humason—I am surprised that the gentleman from Clatsop should oppose this motion, which I conceive to be so essential to a fair organization of this body I do not think that the Legislature of this State—or even while it was a Territory—was ever organized without such a committee The Secretary of State has not got the authority to organize this House neither has he the authority to decide who are members of this House and who are not, but this body alone can determine those questions so that it is necessary that we should have a committee to examine into the claims of the men who come here as representatives from the various counties. There are contested seats here and it is necessary that a committee should pass upon it I am aware that there are four members here from a county which is only entitled to two, and all of them hold certificates of their election Hence, it is necessary to have a committee appointed to settle the question

Mr Olney—I now see the object of the gentleman's motion, and I wish to state my objection It is to throw the decision of the right to the contested seats into the hands of a committee He assumes that the Committee on Credentials will pass upon that question, and It is right there that I propose to meet the question. He tells us that it has been customary in this State to have such a Committee on Credentials appointed. I admit it It has been done in one or two other States, but that does not establish the general usage on the subject. There are other legislative bodies besides this. In nearly all of the States the practice has been otherwise Perhaps one or two other States besides our own have adopted this practice but I am not sure that there is another State in the Union which follows this method of appointing a Committee prior to the members being sworn into office. The House of Representatives of the United States is called to order by the Clerk who acts as temporary chairman until a Speaker has been elected Motions are addressed to and put by him, no questions, however, except those which have in view an organization of the House, and no other business is done until a Speaker is elected In but one instance (to the best of my recollection) has the House departed from the practice and that was an extraordinary case which had to be met in an extraordinary way A case arose of certificates for a contested seat by two gentlemen from New Jersey They both claimed the same seat and both had credentials. One party had them properly sealed by the Secretary of State There was a long controversy about it and if I recollect aright, John Q Adams was placed in the chair as temporary Speaker but there was no committee on credentials appointed This body to-day has followed that precedent by appointing a temporary chairman That is all well enough, but even the gentleman occupying the chair may not have the necessary credentials—we cannot know that fact at present, or that he will be a member of this House when it is organized, but it has been thought convenient to place him there as a medium through whom motions may be received and put without requiring such duties from the Clerk in addition to keeping the records But that does not affect the matter

Now are we to have a committee on credentials? If so there must be some reason for it. The gentleman says there are contested seats Well now can that committee decide those contests? There is no legal way of ascertaining that the persons present are entitled to seats upon this floor but by reference to the record. The usual method in Conventions is to appoint a committee on credentials to examine the claims of persons for in such cases there is no official record to appeal to in order to ascertain who are members But in cases where an official record is kept—provided by law—such record must be taken as prima facie evidence of a claimant's right to a seat A committee on credentials could not rightfully ignore this rule As to those contested seats allow me to say that no body can know beforehand that such contests are to arise. Organization must first be effected by those who are prima facie members then proof may be admitted in due form to establish any claim to a seat The law requires that the returns should be made to the Secretary of State and for what purpose In order to furnish this prima facie evidence of the right of members to seats in the Legislature Of course members who are thus admitted may afterwards be ousted and others obtain their seats but that committee could not settle the question between members from the different counties before the House is sworn in All that the committee could do is simply to report that A B and C appear to have been returned as members of this body Opposed to this principle it is now proposed—before the members of the House are ever sworn to obey the Constitution, etc —to take up and decide the question as to who are entitled to seats on this floor Now I contend that the fair way and the legal way is to have the matter decided by the official record. This can be [illegible] House of Representatives until the members are sworn to office Then with the proper officers and [illegible] if any such questions arise they can be investigated and decided not by an unauthorized and irresponsible body of men but by a body acting under oath

As to the House of Representatives of the United States the case is not exactly analogous to this There the clerk must make up his roll from the certificates presented by the members, because there is no higher record as that provided by the States in their Secretaries' offices Every man whose name is upon the roll is sworn into office The Speaker is then elected and the contested seats afterwards decided In this case there is still less [illegible] for a committee on credentials for our laws provide a Secretary [illegible] in which the records must be kept of the election returns Our Secretary of State has made up the list from the records and they are in the hands of the Clerk If no certificates or records are brought up here [illegible] those from the Secretary's office [illegible] shall we take up the certificate of some [illegible] which is contrary to the Secretary's records If so why do we have the returns? They would be of little use But I contend that they are intended to furnish the highest authority as to who are members entitled to [illegible] in the first instance It is not to be supposed from this that we are to preclude parties from presenting their certificates after an organization is effected They may then do so with whatever proof they may be able to [illegible]

Mr Humason [illegible] did not expect to discuss this question here I think it is fully understood by the members on this floor I am surprised that the gentleman from Clatsop should assume a position which is so new and irregular There never has been a Legislature in Oregon in which such a committee has not been appointed It is necessary for us to do so There is a number of them here and we do not know whether they are members of this body or not No person outside of this body has the right to decide whether we are members or not My proposition is that we select a committee to report the names of persons entitled to seats Now who is to determine who are members of this body? The gentleman from Clatsop says we must take the Secretary's record as evidence I ask sir if we shall allow the Secretary of State to come in here and usurp authority properly belonging to us alone? I do not pretend to [illegible] that this committee can settle the contested seats This is [illegible] a Legislative body I simply desire that we shall determine by the committee who are members elected to this body and entitled to be sworn into office It has always been the practice of this State I have been to the capitals of one or two other States and I think it is the general practice. I think we had better stick to the old rules What purpose can they have who wish to change it. Is it to place the credentials of gentlemen who are members of this body in the hands of irresponsible parties? I think the old rule the better and safer way.

Mr Olney replied Why does the gentleman speak of usurpation on the part of the Secretary of State? We do not appeal to him but to the records which he is bound by law to keep It is not the Secretary who speaks, but the people's written evidence that commands our obedience Here it is proposed to set aside this legal evidence and accept the ruling of unsworn and irresponsible men under the name of a committee of credentials [illegible] precedent is it? Then, Sir, it is time we change it and follow the law

W W Upton of Multnomah moved as a substitute that the Secretary of State be invited to appear with the official roll of the members of the House, and that he be invited to administer the oath of office

Mr Humason objected that the substitute was out of order as it destroyed the original motion entirely. Point sustained

J Q A Worth, of Linn—We meet here as strangers We see a man call this House to order What evidence have we that he is a member of it? Do we know that the rolls purporting to come from the Secretary's office are correct? No man can know that We want a committee to find out We suppose that the committee have sagacity and honesty enough to find out who are entitled to act in the organization of this body Now, how can we know that the list in the hands of the Clerk is a correct one?

Mr Olney—By the certificate from the office of the Secretary properly signed and sealed.

Mr Worth—We do not see it

Mr Olney—You may see it [Laughter]

Mr Worth—We do not see it as members By this committee it is not designed to settle the contested cases but simply to find out who are entitled to elect a Speaker.

J T O Nicklin of Marion county moved to lay on the table

The Speaker stated the motion, and ruled that it was in order to discuss it

G R Helm, of Linn, restated the argument of precedence in favor of appointing the committee And there is another point It had been suggested to call in the Secretary to present the list Now, suppose he should refuse to come, there is no law to compel him to appear But we have the right to appoint a committee on credentials It may be that there are persons now upon this floor who are not entitled to their seats I admit that there are. There may be reasons lying far back of the official records which would establish a man's right to a seat here He would vote against the motion to lay on the table.

Mr Upton said he would do what he had never done before—discuss a motion to lay on the table [Laughter.] He contended that the appointment of a committee with authority over credentials would be unauthorized and improper, this is in one sense of the word, simply a mass meeting until it is duly organized into a branch of the Legislature. No committee appointed by it could entitle persons to seats in the Legislature any more than a committee appointed by any other meeting that might be called here It was necessary to obey the records The question is simply this shall we go by the record according to law or shall we, as a mass-meeting, declare that we are one branch of the Legislature of Oregon? Now it seems to me that I am altogether out of order in debating this question at all. I move that as a substitute that as their names are called by the clerk—

Mr Humason—The clerk is supposed not to have any record and he may call outsiders

Mr Upton—I move that every person upon this floor who assumes to be entitled to a seat here shall, as his name is called by the clerk—

Mr Humason—The clerk has nothing to do in the matter

Isaac Cox of Josephine—Suppose two clerks make their appearance, claiming that they are the proper persons to call the roll I ask who should do it? Who is this clerk here? I deny that he is the proper clerk There is no way to get at it but by a committee.

Mr Helm thought the motion was merely meant to transfer the organization of the House into unauthorized hands—parties who have nothing to do with the organization of the House. Such action was simply an additional argument in favor of a committee

The ayes and nays were called for.

H A. Gher, of Umatilla, and Mr Worth, objected to the ayes and nays being taken

Mr Olney replied again to the argument of usurpation. It was not designed to substitute the clerk or the Secretary, or any one else It is substituting the State of Oregon under and by its great official seal, which is known to the people It is appealing to that record and we call upon some one to present that record, we don t care who he is. The record is the law and the will of the people, and it must be obeyed [Applause and hisses] If men have heretofore sat in this hall and acted as judges of their own election, I say that it is time that the people of the great State of Oregon be heard

Mr Cox—I dispute that there is a State seal, and that there is such a clerk. Coming to this House some one may have slipped the seal out and put a phial in his pocket I dispute that this is the proper clerk and that he has the seal I have not examined it. Here is a clerk coming up here assuming authority when that seal has been slipped out of his pocket by some hocus pocus [Applause and hisses.]

The clerk was asked to state upon his honor whether he was the clerk of the last House In reply he said that the records of the former Legislature and the Constitution would show that he was the proper officer to—

Mr Cox—(In an excited manner, as if in reply to some [illegible])—I desire to know who that was impeached my honor [Laughter]

Mr. Humason thought by the clerk's own admission that he was not a member of the House, and consequently not entitled to speak

Mr. Hendershot moved to adjourn The motion was negatived by a vote 23 ayes to 25 nays, but the Speaker announced the motion carried, and the House adjourned Amid much confusion the ruling was revoked and the House again called to order

The discussion on the motion to lay on the table was continued by Messrs, Cochran, Lockhart, Gher, Upton, and others. The ayes and nays being demanded much opposition was manifested by Mr Humason and others, who did not wish the roll thus recognized When the names of the Grant county members were called Mr Humason insisted upon having the names of the Democratic claimants called also, but the Chair ruled that only those on the official list could be recognized

On the question to lay on the table, the result was as follows,

Ayes—Messrs. Brents, Chenoweth Cole, Davis, Day, Garrick Garrett, Gingles, Herman Himes Langell Laughlin Locey, Lockhart Melvin, McKean, Nicklin, Olney, Paris, Roland Rosenheim, Starkweather, Stouffer, Upton, White and Witzel —26.

Nays—Messrs Avery, Baird, Cochran Cox, Dempsey Dodge Fondray, Gher, Hale, Hendershot, Helm Hindman, Humason, Loring Moore, Ross, South, Wells, Whiteaker, Wethers and Worth —21

Mr Humason moved to postpone the motion to lay on the table, but after some talk, withdrew the motion.

Mr Olney moved that the Secretary of State be invited to appear and administer the oath of office to the members. The motion carried and Mr Humason followed by Messrs Avery, Baird, Cox Dempsey Dodge Gher Hall, Hendershot, Hindman, Loring, Wells, Wethers and Worth withdrew from the hall

The Secretary appeared and swore in the remaining members On motion of Mr Cochran at half past twelve o clock adjourned till 3 o'clock P M

AFTERNOON

The House convened pursuant to adjournment Roll called and the following members recorded as absent Avery, Baird, Cochran, Cox, Davis, Dempsey Dodge, Fondray, Gher, Hall, Hendershot, Helm, Hindman Humason, Lawson, Loring, Moore, Ross, Rosenheim, South Wells, Whiteaker and Worth—23 No quorum.

Mr Olney expressed the opinion that as none of the gentlemen on the opposite side of the House were present, it was probable that they did not desire to take part in the proceedings of the afternoon He observed that there was no quorum, and that the only power vested in the House was to adjourn from time to time and compel the attendance of absent members This power necessarily carried with it the power to use the means essential to its exercise There was no way to exercise the power but through a Sergeant-at Arms. He therefore suggested that a Sergeant-at Arms pro tem be elected

Mr Locey nominated James Garden, who was elected unanimously

Mr Olney stated that the next thing in order would be to move a call of the House but he thought it better policy to wait awhile and give the absentees time to think over matters. It was his opinion that they would be in their seats by to-morrow morning

At half past three o clock, on motion the House adjourned till to-morrow morning at nine o clock

WEDNESDAY MORNING SEPT 12 1866

Maine

The State of Maine pronounces against the President and that monstrosity known as his policy by the overwhelming majority of thirty-five thousand votes This is a much larger majority than she ever before gave for any party, except in 1856 It is an increase on Lincoln's majority in 1864 of more than ten thousand votes No ordinary cause has produced this grand result These increased Union majorities wherever elections are held in the North, speak with a terrible eloquence against Andrew Johnson That functionary challenged a loyal and faithful Congress to meet him before the people and let the people decide between them, and he is now hearing the verdict The elections so far as held indicate unerringly that the people of every loyal State will pronounce in the most emphatic manner for the Congressional plan of restoration The lesson which these great Union gains teaches is not to be ignored The people will not be juggled with Johnson's cause is infinitely weaker than McClellan's was in 1864 The latter, at least, had some claims to respect, the former is odious and contemptible to the last degree The temper of the people is not to be mistaken "My policy" is doomed!

The Organization

The complete organization of the Legislature has been effected, the Unionists having full control of both Houses. The prompt and concerted action of the Union members shows that their majority is compact and perfectly harmonious The election of Senator cannot take place until the 25th instant, as the law prescribes that it shall be held on the second Tuesday succeeding the day on which the Legislature is organized. It would have occurred a week earlier had not the Democratic members, in pursuance of their time-honored custom "gone out to stand" on Monday These dilatory tactics enabled them to put off the Senatorial election a week further, but the delay will avail them nothing It is very gratifying to observe that the Union members are all in their places, ready to proceed with promptitude to the business of the session.

The Public Debt.

In the space of one year from the first of August 1865, the public debt was diminished to the extent of $124,153,999 On the first of last month the debt, therefore, amounted to $2,633,090,276 From the monthly statement of the Treasury Department, telegraphed here, it appears that the sum total of the debt at the beginning of the present month was $2,595,683,168, a further reduction of $37,416,108 These figures show that the debt has been diminished to the extent of $151,570,107 within the short space of thirteen months This is certainly without a parallel in the annals of nations. When it is considered that we have just emerged from a devastating civil war, it almost transcends belief. This amazing fact affords the clearest evidence of the vastness of the country's productive powers That the debt should be reduced by so large a sum within so short a time, and that before the expenses of the Government are brought within the ordinary limits of a peace establishment, is a sufficient indication of what will be done in the way of its final extinguishment after order has been fully restored, and after the country has had time to recover from the losses of the war. The croakers used to predict that the nation never could pay its great debt, and that repudiation would ultimately be inevitable What are the prospects now? At the present rate of diminution, nineteen years hence the Government will not owe one dollar. And so rapid is the increase of wealth in all parts of the country that if taxes are maintained at present figures, the whole debt will be discharged in a much shorter time.

His Responsibility —When the loyal State Convention of Louisiana was about to assemble in New Orleans, Abell, the judge of a subordinate court in that city, charged the rebel Grand Jury that this peaceable action was conspiracy and treason. So flagrant did this judge's rebel instincts appear, that General Sheridan immediately ordered his arrest. Charged with treason, he was brought before a brother rebel magistrate, and admitted to bail in the paltry sum of $500 Now observe what the President did in this case In the absence of Sheridan he telegraphed to Gen. Baird that he was to use the army if necessary, in sustaining the court—that is in sustaining the charge and proceedings under it of this traitor, Judge Abell. These instructions were followed by the judge and carried out to their logical meaning by the mob, in the murder of the members of the loyal Convention and in the fearful carnival of blood that the traitors enjoyed. Andrew Johnson is morally guilty of this most atrocious massacre.

General Chalmers "late of the Confederate army and one of the heroes of Fort Pillow" is making speeches in favor of Andrew Johnson Gen John A Logan is making speeches against him. The reader may draw the inference.

The Directors of the Kansas Pacific Railroad have voted to put 240 miles under immediate contract, to be completed within two years, making one-half the distance between Fort Riley and Denver, Colorado.

Kentucky.—The result of the election in Kentucky having insured the rebel rule, there was soon after an outbreak of violence and crime throughout her borders unparalled in the history of the State.

Demijohns, says an exchange, should be the name of the new party. Part Democrats, part Johnsonites By all means, Demijohns!

Immediately after the fall elections, Johnson will pardon Jeff Davis. This is a certainty which requires no prophecy to foretell.

We learn from the Reporter that on Friday morning last John Kesler of Sterlingville, Jackson county, was discovered lying upon the bed in his cabin dead, apparently from the effects of a gun shot wound the ball entering under the chin and coming out at the top of his head His rifle was lying across the bed the ramrod lying near by It is supposed that he placed the muzzle of the rifle under his chin, and while in that position, pressed the trigger with the ramrod. The cabin doors were fastened on the inside No cause is assigned for the commission of the awful deed

The Reporter says that on Friday morning a Chinese burglar was shot at Farmer's Flat, Jackson county under the following circumstances A German miner whose name is unknown to us was awakened near daylight by a noise in his cabin and starting up discovered a man busily engaged in attempting to open a chest in the cabin The German instantly seized a shot-gun and fired, whereupon the Chinaman ran out of the cabin a short distance and fell He left his coat, and upon examination it was found to contain a very small, well contrived dark lantern a small steel tool for cleaning sluices, skeleton keys and various other articles of the burglar's trade. It is supposed that the robber will die of his wounds.

We compile from the State Journal the following account of the several cities now building at Yaquina Bay Pioneer City, at the head of tide water contains about a dozen buildings Elk City is situated three miles below the mouth of Elk Creek and is the lowest point to which wagons can go by land It contains fewer houses than Pioneer City but the buildings are of a more substantial character, and the place presents a better appearance Oysterville is on the north side of the Bay six miles from the ocean Capt Dodge is proprietor of this place which seems to consist mainly of an oyster bed and a store Newport, on the north side of the Bay, is about a mile from the sea beach and has been built this summer It contains about twenty houses, among which are one store and one hotel The place points east and is sheltered from the heavy ocean winds by a bluff between it and the beach

Two boxes were found in Brooklyn yesterday One contained the stolen county war bonds [illegible] $33 000 and notes from St Lawrence county and Michigan and the other a large number of burglars' tools, dies and the seals of Michigan and Greene county in this State

The Fenians—Fire at Sing Sing—Money Matters

The Herald's New York special correspondent says The Fenian Congress adjourned sine die yesterday having been in session all Saturday night Col Roberts was re elected President, Mahan President of the Senate Fitzgerald, Speaker of the House. Col Sweeny was deposed from the position of Secretary of War but no successor was named His accounts were satisfactory but he was believed to be incompetent General O Neal was appointed Inspector of the Irish Republican army and Col Bailey Chief Military Organizer It was hoped that General Sheridan would be prevailed upon to accept the Chief Command Another raid on Canada will undoubtedly be made during the fall if contributions are plentiful

A fire at Sing Sing yesterday destroyed over twenty buildings, including Vanderlon's large file works The rest were stores etc Loss estimated at $200 000 The Post's money article says The loan market is easy with more animation Stocks are quiet In government stocks there is nothing doing, but they are firm Foreign exchange nominal Flour 10@20c better with a limited supply and good inquiry Medium, $3 45@6 40 extra State $8 05@11 for common to good shipping extra round hoop Ohio $11 10@12 for trade brands

Maine Election—"My Policy" Repudiated.

Chicago September 11 —The returns of the Maine election yesterday show a thus indicating a majority of 35,000 for Gen Chamberlain and every Congressional district is carried by the Republicans Portland gives Lynch, for Congress [illegible] Street 1,244, thirty two other towns give Chamberlain 13 263 Pillsbury 7 5-5 the same towns last year gave King 9 411, and Holland 7,131

Dillingham's majority in Vermont is over 20,000

Johnson comes to Grief

Chicago September 11 —President Johnson arrived at Indianapolis from St Louis last evening and his reception ended in a riot one person being killed and several wounded. The President attempted to speak but was choked off with cries for Grant and Farragut The President will arrive at Cincinnati, but the City Council have voted not to receive him

The Finances.

The disbursements of gold by the treasury department since statement on first instant have been about $5 000,000, of which four and a half millions were for interest on the ten forty bonds The receipts of gold have been in excess of this amount, and the treasury department now holds nearly $80,000 000 of which $60,000,000 belong absolutely to the Government, the balance being represented by gold certificates The receipts for customs, internal revenue etc are larger than at any other period and notwithstanding the unprecedented rapidity with which the United States debt has been reduced, the treasury is in a very plethoric condition

Additional Foreign News

New York, Sept 10 —The following foreign items are received by the City of Boston which has arrived at this port Count Bismarck delivered a most significant speech in defense of the German annexation policy He declares that Prussia must lay hold on and keep what is offered her that a European Congress would produce that the crown is determined and able to defend its new territorial acquisitions He believed the consolidation of power of the Prussian crown strengthened German unity

The French commander of the camp at Chalons in dismissing the troops, addressed the soldiers by order of the Emperor, calling attention to victories by name in which Napoleon the First defeated the Austrians Russians and Prussians, telling them to ever cherish the memories of Vienna Austrians

It is reported the insurgent Poles in Siberia defeated the Russian regiments and being joined by revolutionary Russians, have moved toward the frontier

The London Daily News of the first instant, says that Confederate bonds which of late have been altogether neglected, are in demand at an advance They opened at 41¼ and closed at 41½. It is surmised that accounts may have arrived favorable to the Philadelphia Convention It is difficult, however, to see how the prospects of the bond holders can thereby be improved, since an absolute condition has been made and agreed to, that the war debt of the South shall be totally repudiated

A strange rumor comes from Rome to the effect that a conspiracy to poison the Emperor of the French at Vecky was discovered before he left that place The poison was to have been given in a potion which the Emperor was accustomed to drink after his bath. It is asserted that a man named Valentine was to have carried the design into effect but it was discovered by a warning letter sent by one of the conspirators in Rome to the Emperor Valentine committed suicide

The Independence Belge thus announces the failure of the arch Duchess Carlotta's conditions with Napoleon The Empress Carlotta has paid her late visit to the Emperor and there is no longer the slightest doubt that he lately announced to that Princess with extreme regret his irrevokable resolution not to subscribe to any of the arrangements which she had come to propose as the means of aiding the dynasty of Mexico. It is not certain that the Empress of Mexico will not again return to that country and that Maximillian will soon join her in Europe after having abdicated.

The following information is from the Walla Walla Statesman of the 7th inst

THE FRUIT CROP

The fruit crop in this valley will not be so large this season as it was last We hear of but one peach orchard in the valley—that of Mr W S Gilliam on Dry Creek —that will bear fuller this season than it did last Of other orchards from which large quantities of peaches were sold last season it is said enough will not be grown to supply the families of the owners The same may also be said of the apple pear and plum crops As a rule, apple trees that bore full last year have few or no apples upon them this season while those that did not bear last year are in most localities well laden with fruit,

WHITMAN SEMINARY

The work on the Whitman Seminary is progressing rapidly and greatly to the satisfaction of the friends of the institution The main building is already enclosed and has received the first coat of paint This seminary building promises to be one of the most substantial and ornamental edifices in the country It is two stories high with twenty one windows and will have a veranda in front the whole to be surmounted by a bell tower and observatory The Board of Trustees at their last meeting solicited Rev P B Chamberlain to be the principal of the educational department, and he has signified his willingness to accept the position

LARGE CROPS

It is estimated that the wheat crop in Grand Ronde valley this year will reach one hundred thousand bushels and that the oats and barley crops will amount to nearly as much more The wheat yield in Umatilla within [illegible] hundred thousand bushels If the estimate for this valley, though it is thought since harvest began that the yield here will exceed two hundred thousand bushels

THE BLUE MOUNTAIN MURDER

The man arrested at Umatilla last week on suspicion of being the murderer of the man found dead near Meacham's gave his name as Patrick Brown After an examination in Justice's Court he was committed to prison to await trial at the next term of the Umatilla District Court The name of the murdered man was not ascertained [illegible] the night before he was found dead [illegible] the only evidence against the prisoner [illegible] the citizens of Umatilla generally The man that was killed [illegible] was about [illegible] through the body and a revolver was found [illegible] from which two balls had been discharged

QUARTZ DISCOVERY

Rumors have been current for several months of the discovery of rich quartz leads at Warren's Diggings in the Salmon River country Mr Patrick who is just down from there informs us that some thirty well defined ledges have been taken up [illegible] Silver is the precious metal in which the rock is quite rich. There can be no doubt that valuable quartz leads have been discovered [illegible] with the introduction of machinery [illegible] large quantities of bullion from that quarter

FAILURE OF MORE & FOGUS

On Thursday last it became publicly known that this mining firm had failed and its property was insolvent The extent of their liabilities we do not know but must be very large—probably between two and three hundred thousand dollars On the 28th day of August the property was transferred to the Minear Mining and Milling Company for the sum of $150,000 We are informed that C H Tilton of New York holds a mortgage on the mill adjacent buildings and ground which they are situated for $34 000 If any other creditors are secured we are unable to learn the fact We know of several who have their obligations for sums ranging from $100 to $35 000 We are informed that More & Fogus have stock and obligations of the Minear Mining and Mill Company for a large amount which they are willing to exchange for their own paper The community at this writing, (Friday noon) is in a state of uncertain temper and now we will neither attempt to aggravate or palliate this feeling Another week may and liabilities will be a more proper time

NEW SILVER DISTRICT DISCOVERED

Mr Lobenan Mining Engineer and Assayer who came by the last Chico stage to Silver City—in the employ of Mr Blake, assayer—reports that the miners are now working at the Pueblo copper mines have just discovered a silver ledge five feet wide which he pronounces a sulphate of silver—containing 85 per cent of pure silver This is quite equal to the Poorman The Pueblo mines are located on the Chico stage route and about 160 miles from Silver City It is of the same range of the Black Rock, Pine Forrest District and where the ores have been successfully worked by the mills at Virginia City and Washoe. Wood and water are in close proximity to this ledge, and in ample quantities for mining purposes

WHISKY GULCH

Visited this ledge on Monday Main shaft down seventy five feet at the bottom of which a tunnel is run north thirty five feet. The ledge in this tunnel will average four feet Next to the east casing there is fifteen inches of as rich quartz as was ever found in that sized body On the west side there is another equally rich but smaller strata which is growing larger At the end of the tunnel there is fully five feet of vein matter including these two bodies of very rich ore At a depth of probably forty feet another tunnel extends northward with not quite so rich showing as below Near the surface is another tunnel in the same direction The ledge at this point is wide and contains the largest body of very rich ore we have ever seen in any ledge It is a sight good for doubting and querulous individuals This ledge is easily traced for a thousand feet on the surface and is clearly defined to a depth of seventy five feet, and every indication of improvement at a greater depth It varies in size but averages about three and one-half feet between casings. Messrs Storey and Hanna own 700 feet of the 800 in the claim and have four miners in addition to themselves working it

COLLECTOR APPOINTED

J C Geer Esq , has recently been appointed and confirmed Collector of Internal Revenue for Idaho We have been shown a letter written August 1st by Senator Williams of Oregon giving the above information

The following is published in the Boise Statesman of the 6th inst

The failure of More & Fogus has a most damaging effect upon all kinds of business in Owyhee county Numbers of men of small means lose so much as to cripple or entirely ruin them, while every one feels it in a greater or less degree

The foundation of the new hotel, at the corner of Seventh and Idaho streets is about to be commenced The first load of rock was dumped yesterday The building when completed will occupy 60 feet on Idaho street, by 108 on Seventh.

The teams of Mr George Coggan arrived this week, landing sixty thousand pounds of freight to Boise City in just twenty-one days from the time the goods left Umatilla That is said to be the quickest trip ever made with ox teams between those two places This is hardly more than one-half the average time required two years ago In another year the average time for shipping goods from Umatilla to Boise City and Owyhee will be less than three weeks Improved roads have already reduced the time one hundred per cent , and there is still room for improvement. Mr Coggan is one of the oldest freighters on the road, and is reducing the business to as much system and dispatch as private enterprise can

AN INEXPLICABLE MYSTERY.—A very singular and mysterious case was brought to the attention of Marshal Hoyt, on Monday last in this city, which has thus far, baffled all attempts to fathom it. On Saturday evening a man by the Wilson G. Hunt, from the Cascades, took a room at the Union Hotel. He applied for a room by himself, but when told that it would cost him extra, he seemed satisfied to put up with one in which were two beds. On retiring he evinced much excitement and agitation to realize that another person was to occupy the room with him, so much so that his actions were deemed singular by the proprietor of the hotel. The suspicion that he was not in a right state of mind was heightened the next morning, when he was discovered in an attempt to conceal a pair of hand-cuffs behind the tank in the wash room and officer Saunders was informed of the circumstances. The matter was then reported to Marshal Hoyt, and the case investigated. The man gave his name as Wm. Burtch, and showed a warrant issued by a Justice of the Peace in Sangamon county, Ill., for the arrest of four persons accused of committing a murder in Kane county, Illinois. On the warrant thus issued William Burtch makes an affidavit that he believes the parties named had escaped to California, on which affidavit Gov. Oglesby of Illinois, issued a requisition upon Gov. Low of California, and Gov. Gibbs of Oregon, for the arrest of the parties named in the warrant, which were two men named Stevenson, a woman by the same name, a man named Spencer, and one other which we failed to note. Those requisitions bear date at Springfield, Illinois, on the 22d day of June, 1866. The requisition on Gov. Low is duly endorsed, and accompanied by a warrant regularly issued under the laws of California, with the parties named who it is alleged committed the murder. The warrant is dated on the 18th day of August ultimo. The requisition on Gov. Gibbs is endorsed, bearing recent date. He also has a letter from the Vice-President of an Illinois railroad company, on matters of business connected with the road, on which he claims to have been a conductor. This letter is addressed to Hon. Wm. Burtch. He has a number of telegrams, which look as if they were blank sheets filled out by himself, written in his own hand, and signed "officer Burtch," the spelling and writing being very ordinary. His actions during the questioning of Marshal Hoyt were most singular. He appeared to be under the apprehension that he was a prisoner, and repeatedly inquired if the officers were satisfied as to his innocence, and were willing to let him go. He states that he has no money, but that he expected to get his prisoners back to the State of Illinois by "operating" upon parties at the East. He seems to know nothing of the circumstances under which the murder alleged was perpetrated, and taken altogether, it is a chain of most singular circumstances, which the officers here are utterly unable to understand. The hand-cuffs which he had in his possession he delivered to Marshal Hoyt, to be returned to the Sheriff of Umatilla county, of whom he says he borrowed them. He offered to deliver up the papers in his hands to the Marshal, but they were not accepted, as without any knowledge of the circumstances, or provision for paying the expense attending the return of the parties named, they could be of no value. The warrants and requisitions explicitly state that the expenses are not to be paid by the States of Illinois, California or Oregon. It appears that the strange person, on Friday last arrested Mr. J. S. Spencer, engineer on the Celilo and Dalles railroad, just as the train was leaving the Dalles. Mr. Spencer could not understand the proceeding, but when shown the warrants Mr. S. allowed himself to be made a prisoner, and on Saturday morning started with Burtch for Portland. Before reaching the Cascades it was apparent that Burtch was not in sound mind, and he seemed satisfied that Mr. S. was not the man he wanted and told him he could return to the Dalles, which he did. Burtch, coming on to this city, informed Governor Gibbs that he had arrested a man and released him, and the Governor, not having any knowledge of the singularity of the person, probably gave the matter less attention than he otherwise would. We are informed that Mr. Spencer came to this country in company with one of the parties named in the warrant held by Burtch, and has since heard that such a person was accused of murder in Illinois, but he has no knowledge of the circumstances. Burtch is a man of about five feet eight inches stature, stout build, florid complexion, large face and head, blue eyes, and has lost the fore-finger on his right hand. The mystery is unaccountable, and cannot possibly be explained by any evidence yet brought forward. It is possible that if the murder was committed as stated some of his friends may have been the victims, and that since he has traveled to this coast, with the trouble upon his mind, the effect has been to render him insane. He referred to a gentleman of this city whom he says he knew in the East, but the party failed to [illegible] him, although Burtch mentioned persons known to both, who now reside in the locality designated.

[illegible]—A good joke was attempted upon a party of young gentlemen in this city, who had assembled at the private room of one of their number on Saturday [illegible] to play a social game of cards. The party were quietly seated at the table and a hand was being dealt round when a bevy of ladies approached the open door armed with miniature torpedos, which were hurled against the opposite wall with force sufficient to cause a [illegible] effect. The gentlemen, unable to account for [illegible] and unexpected surprise, jumped from [illegible], and in their great haste upset the table, and put the light out. While searching in the dark for the cause of their alarm, their confusion was made much greater by the pealing bells which seemed to them to have started up from the same disturbance, and wondering what in the world had broke loose, one gentleman bolted out at the door only to be caught in the arms of one of the ladies who implored him to stop, as it was [illegible] as a joke. He could not see the point of the [illegible] time, but as the lamp had been re-lighted it was explained, except so far as that part included [illegible] of the bells—that was still a mystery; to explain which, the entire party, ladies and gentlemen, [illegible] to the street, where they learned the cause of the alarm, and proceeded to the fire—some to work, and the ladies as spectators.

GOLD STORIES.—On a recent occasion a gentleman who had been to Montana was telling to a knot of [illegible] by whom he happened to be surrounded [illegible] incidents which he had witnessed in the gold mines of Montana. They were considered too big to be [illegible] standing by at the time we can say that none [illegible] "heavier" than the following, which is probably [illegible]. We quote from the Helena Republican, and [illegible] reason to doubt its [illegible]: "Early this [illegible] teams, loaded with heavy casks and guarded by [illegible] men, armed to the teeth, entered the town and drew up in front of Hershfield & Co.'s Bank on Bridge street. From these wagons was unloaded one ton of gold, [illegible] to two men, and taken from Montana Bar, [illegible] Gulch, in less than four months. Mr. Hershfield [illegible] us that within less than one month he has [illegible] tons of gold from his bank, or over one and a quarter million dollars' worth of the precious metal."

COUNTERFEIT.—A new counterfeit legal tender note, of the denomination of $100, was discovered at the [illegible] Bank in this city by Cashier Steel, as it was being paid over by Mr. Bacon of Oregon City, yesterday. The most marked difference was made apparent when the "B" was placed on the counter by the side of a genuine note of the same denomination. The shading of the words "United States," in the wave, across the face, is much heavier on the counterfeit than upon the genuine, and the eagle on the corner is poorly engraved—the plumage [illegible] ragged, and the illustration of the cliff beneath is very poorly executed. On the counterfeit we should say—although not positively, as the bill had been [illegible] placed together—the right foot of the eagle shows but three talons. On the genuine four are [illegible]. It will be well to look out for this counterfeit.

[illegible]—The fine little steamship Fideliter, Capt. Erskine, left last evening for Victoria, with a cargo of about sixty-five tons, and ten or fifteen passengers. The cargo consisted of fifty tons of flour, three casks of ale, twelve cases of hardware, sixteen cans merchandise, seven [illegible] goods, eleven boxes of eggs, eleven boxes prunes, three hundred and twenty-six boxes of fruit, and three tons of wheat. Among the [illegible] we noticed the name of Rev. A. C. McDougal, well known in this State and California as a most able and patriotic divine, as well as an ardent advocate of the temperance cause. He goes to Victoria on business connected with his [illegible], as well as for the benefit of his health.

[illegible]—In our remarks about the fire of last [illegible] night, an [illegible] occurred which was not by any means [illegible]. We desire always to share the [illegible] of the public upon deserving people, and [illegible] to mention that our worthy and efficient Chief [illegible]—Thomas G. Young was upon the ground and at his post doing duty in the most untiring manner, with his assistants Messrs Wetsell, Jos. Buchtel and Frank [illegible]. It rendered the fact no less a fact. We are pleased to make the amend to our previous remarks and feel thankful to the friend who called our attention to the [illegible].

[illegible] FIRE.—Engineer Frank M. Spear has been on the ground almost constantly at the late fire, since the first alarm on Saturday night, running the steamer of [illegible] Company to keep the destroying element [illegible]. The engine was taken to her house on Monday night, but was again placed at work yesterday [illegible]. She has thrown a stream all Saturday night, Sunday, Sunday night, Monday and Tuesday, and yet the fire is burning in the pile of sawdust and shavings, the accumulation of over fourteen years.

TRIAL TRIP.—The steamer Celilo will to-day take the [illegible] of the City Council, who superintend the river [illegible], to East Portland for the purpose of witnessing the final trial of the dredger. If acceptable and satisfactory the machine will proceed to the mouth of the Willamette this afternoon, where active operations will be [illegible].

FURNITURE SALE.—A really desirable lot of household furniture, which is from the residence of an acquaintance declining house-keeping, will be sold at public auction to-day by Mr. A. B. Richardson, corner of Oak and Front streets. The carpets, and indeed everything about the lot, are nearly new, having been in use less than three months.

A DISGUSTING TRAP.—Some graceless scamp in the disguise of a female, is filling the post offices of the Pacific coast with circulars of an obscene character, requesting answers, to be addressed to "Mrs. Montague, P. O. Box No. 140, San Francisco." The matter is referred to the Chief of Police at San Francisco.

THE DREDGER.—Another trial of the new steam dredging machine was had at East Portland yesterday. We did not attend, but from the appearance of her movements as we observed them from the steamship Orizaba, we think the trial must have been satisfactory. She is a [illegible] machine, without doubt.

WARM.—The weather in these parts during the middle and after portion of the day, is rather warm, but at each street corner it is decidedly refreshing to catch the cool breeze wafted past from the mountains, and up the river.

REPAIRED.—Hereafter the gas light at the corner of Third and Washington may flicker to the benefit of passing people, as yesterday the missing glass was restored to the lamp.

FINED.—Charles Kanaran, for assaulting John Farley, yesterday paid a fine of $30 and costs, upon conviction before Esquire Gradon. One or two other cases were disposed of at the same Court.

The Legislative proceedings on first page.

STREET REPAIRS.—The new street commissioner, Mr. H. W. Davis, the former efficient post-master of Portland, is to be seen every day supervising work upon streets improved, and otherwise filling the office to which he has been recently elected. He will prove a faithful and satisfactory conservator of the rights and privileges of the people, irrespective of persons, and watch with interested care over the streets and public property of the city, no doubt.

S. T.—1860.—X.
Persons of sedentary habits troubled with weakness, lassitude, palpitation of the heart, lack of appetite, distress after eating, torpid liver, constipation, &c., deserve to suffer if they will not try the celebrated
PLANTATION BITTERS,
Which are now recommended by the highest medical authorities, and warranted to produce an immediate beneficial effect. They are exceedingly agreeable, perfectly pure, and must supersede all other tonics where a healthy, gentle stimulant is required.

They purify, strengthen and invigorate.
They create a healthy appetite.
They are an antidote to change of water and diet.
They overcome effects of dissipation and late hours.
They strengthen the system and enliven the mind.
They prevent miasmatic and intermittent fevers.
They purify the breath and acidity of the stomach.
They cure Dyspepsia and Constipation.
They cure Diarrhea and Cholera Morbus.
They cure Liver Complaint and Nervous Headache.

They make the weak strong, the languid brilliant, and are exhausted nature's great restorer. They are composed of the celebrated Calisaya bark, wintergreen, sassafras, roots and herbs, all preserved in perfectly pure St. Croix rum. For particulars, see circulars and testimonials around each bottle.
Beware of impostors. Examine every bottle. See that it has our private U. S. Stamp unmutilated over the cork, with plantation scene, and our signature on a fine steel plate side label. See that our bottle is not refilled with spurious and deleterious stuff. Any person pretending to sell Plantation Bitters by the gallon or in Bulk, is an impostor. Any person imitating this bottle, or selling any other material therein, whether called Plantation Bitters or not, is a criminal under the U. S. Law, and will be so prosecuted by us. We already have our eye on several parties re-filling our bottles, &c., who will succeed in getting themselves into close quarters. The demand for Drake's Plantation Bitters from ladies, clergymen, merchants, &c., is incredible. The simple trial of a bottle is the evidence we present of their worth and superiority. They are sold by all respectable druggists, grocers, physicians, hotels, saloons, steamboats and country stores.

HOSTETTER'S
CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS.
READ AND REFLECT.

Make sure of HEALTH; "But how?" you ask;
We answer, 'tis an easy task,
Strengthen the STOMACH, and sustain
The NERVES, the servants of the brain.
The LIVER keep in active play
And regulate, from day to day,
Each organ aid, on Nature's plan,
Brace and refresh the INNER MAN,
And like a watch that's kept in chime
By constant care, with railroad time,
The system's tone and strength renew,
And thereby cheer the spirits, too.
"How," you inquire, "can this be done?
This Victory o'er Disease be won?"
"HOSTETTER'S BITTERS," we reply,
In HOSTETTER'S SUPREME PROPERTIES—TRY!

As a means of regenerating the disordered and enfeebled system, regulating every function of the internal organs, reviving the depressed spirits, invigorating the constitution, and prolonging life, no medicinal preparation, either of the past or the present time, has been so completely and universally successful as
HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS.

Against the vapors foul prepare,
That fever-taint the heavy air.
Drink not unmixed the water found
In prairies, woods or marshy ground.
If sedentary toil you ply,
Nature you must assist—or die—
For when debarred from exercise
For artificial aid she cries.
Medicine's grand purpose and intent
Is threatened evil to prevent:
And if you'd be relieved or spared
From ills that crush the unprepared,
Hostetter's Bitters use—for note
They are the SUREST ANTIDOTE.

To set at defiance the miasma of unhealthy soils, the poison of unwholesome water, the effluvia of crowded work-rooms and factories, and the baneful influence of sedentary employments, it is only necessary to be forearmed with
HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS.

Dyspepsia's pangs, that rack and grind
The body, and depress the mind;
Agues, that as they go and come,
Make life a constant martyrdom;
Colics and dysenteric pains,
'Neath which the strong man's vigor wanes;
Bilious complaints, those tedious ills,
Ne'er conquered yet by drastic pills;
Dread diarrhoea that cannot be
Cured by destructive mercury;
Slow constitutional decay
That brings Death nearer, day by day;
Nervous prostration, mental gloom—
Heralds of madness or the tomb;
For these—though mineral nostrums fail—
Means of Relief at least we hail,
HOSTETTER'S BITTERS—medicine sure,
Not to prevent, alone, but cure.

In dyspepsia, fever and ague, bilious complaints, constitutional and nervous debility, constipation, sea-sickness, spasms, and in all complaints of Man or Woman, proceeding from casual or inherent weakness of the Body, the one great remedy and restorative is
HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS.

To wanderers on sea or land,
From Polar shore to Tropic strand;
To households lone, in regions new,
And dwellers in great cities, too;
To soldiers in camp, fort and field,
Who need against disease a shield;
To miners, California bound,
And tillers of wet, marshy ground;
To feeble wives of fragile mold,
To young and middle-aged, and old;
To those in health, who would enjoy
Heaven's best gifts without alloy;
To all the strengthless, weak and pale,
Who droop, yet know not what they ail,
Hostetter's Bitters we present
As Health's most potent element.

If there is any value in public opinion, or any weight in medical testimony, the very best and safest Tonic, Corrective and Alterative now before the world is
HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS.
Sold by respectable druggists in all parts of the world.

STEAM POWER, NOS. 625 AND 627 FRONT ST.
HAS CONSTANTLY ON HAND GROUND AND ROASTED COFFEE, GREEN COFFEE of the best qualities. CREAM OF TARTAR and SPICES of all sorts.
The undersigned, who has always enjoyed public confidence for the excellent quality of his Coffee, neglects nothing to justify the good name acquired by his productions, the sale of which daily increases. The acknowledged superiority of his merchandise, which commands here, and in the markets of the interior, a relatively higher price, excites the cupidity of some manufacturers, and every day he sees increasing the number of those who, by counterfeit or imitation of his mark, seek to deceive the public, palming upon them their inferior productions for the genuine G. VENARD CHARTRES COFFEE. This fraud can deceive nobody after a trial, but only adds to the favorable opinion of the consumers, the very flattering though unwilling testimony of the counterfeiters. Nevertheless, buyers should be forewarned, and placed on their guard against this practice.

SOME OF YOU CAN'T, AND WE PITY you. You have tried every remedy but the ONE destined, by its intrinsic merit, to supersede all similar preparations. It is not surprising you should be reluctant to try anything else after the many experiments you have made of trashy compounds foisted on the public as a certain cure; but is really the VERY BEST remedy ever compounded for the cure of Coughs, Colds, Sore Throat, Asthma, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis and Consumption. Thousands of people in California and Oregon have been already benefitted by the surprising curative powers of and with one accord give it their unqualified approbation. We now address ourselves to all who are unacquainted with this, the greatest Panacea of the age, for the healing of all diseases of the Throat and Lungs, assuring you that

Oh, quit—will you!—get out!
You know you shouldn't.

The Late Great Demonstration in San Francisco.

Our telegraphic dispatches made mention of the enthusiastic reception lately given at San Francisco to Senators Nye and Stewart and Representative Ashley of Nevada. Gov. Low presided at the meeting. We copy from the Bulletin the following account of the speeches which were made:

REMARKS OF MR. ASHLEY.

Mr. Ashley was received with cheers. He expressed his pride at again meeting a California audience. He represented a little State over the mountains, but it was true and loyal as California herself. But he did not represent that State alone; he acted as a Congressman for the whole country. He eulogized the Thirty-ninth Congress for its patriotism and ability, and vindicated it from the charge of being controlled by revenge and passion. It was swayed by convulsions of duty, and he had come back to see if the convictions were not strong enough to sway the people. After analyzing the cause that led to the war, and showing that the Union armies fought to put down traitors and to squelch the harpsy of secession, he argued that they would have fought in vain if the control of the country were now to be given into the very hands of the very men who drew the sword to break up the Government. They only dropped the sabre and musket when compelled by force, and now they are already grasping the insignia of office. They want to come back into Congress with eighteen more representatives than they had when they went out, and to have their negroes among them counted as citizens while denying them the legal equality which belongs to citizenship. The questions arising out of the war and relating to reconstruction were not for one man to decide; their settlement belonged to the loyal people. It were unworthy of their valor and sacrifices to say now that they cannot control in peace what they decided in war. It was not too much to ask that those who had held aloft the rebel banner should be excluded from political power in the Republic they tried to destroy. [Immense applause.] He believed the people thought so, and conjured them to make their fingers as nimble in putting in ballots on the right side as they had just been in applauding. He expressed deep regret for the unfortunate course of the President, whom he accused of recreancy to the party and principles of the millions who elected him; asserting that he does not stand where Lincoln stood, and that he is one of the examples of faithless depository of power.

At about this point in his remarks, Mr. Ashley was interrupted by the entrance of the Veteran Corps, composed of soldiers who fought against rebellion, bearing their battle-flag and other colors, and preceded by drum and fife. They were received a with Rally Round the Flag from the band, and enthusiastic applause from the audience, who rose to their feet by a spontaneous impulse. Marching on to the stage they were welcomed by the Governor and Mr. Ashley, the former observing that it was easy to see on which side they stood. The tableau presented on the stage for a few minutes was very striking.

Order having been restored, Mr. Ashley proceeded. He recognized in the wounded veterans and their torn flag a stronger argument than he could make against the policy that would put into power the men they had assisted to defeat, when in armed resistance to the Government. He discussed at some length the difference between the President and Congress, contending that the latter body asked nothing that was unkind or unreasonable. They merely wanted put into the organic law, as guarantees of future peace and uniform justice, provisions securing equality of civil rights and protection for the humblest citizen, regulating representation on a just and equal basis, making it impossible for rebel debts to be paid, or for the national debt to be repudiated, and excluding leading rebels from political power. Congress did not believe it would be safe to admit Southern representatives until these guarantees have been obtained. For this they are denounced as a "Rump Congress," as usurpers, as an illegal body, as a "pretended Congress." These were hard epithets to apply to the men whose measures enabled our armies to put down the rebellion, and who are still powerful enough to prevent any man from trampling under foot the rights of the loyal people. He was surprised and shocked that after all the lessons and losses of the war, it had come to be a question whether the policy of the country should be decided by the people or by the single will of an accidental President. The speaker criticised the action of the Philadelphia Convention—a body that dared not speak for fear of letting out the truth, and that did not pray because its prayers would not be heeded. After amplifying on the reasons for adopting the Constitutional Amendment and enforcing the Civil Rights bill, and explaining that while he was not perhaps in favor of immediate universal suffrage he wanted suffrage to be impartial, the speaker made an eloquent appeal to his audience to sustain the loyal reputation of their city by polling a strong Union vote at the election to-day.

REMARKS OF SENATOR STEWART.

After a lively national air by the band, Mr. Stewart was introduced by the President and heartily cheered. He complimented California as the most delightful and favored portion of the Union, spoke of the liberality of Congress in adopting all the measures asked for its welfare—including the mineral land bill and bill to settle land titles—and said that such liberal consideration should increase our attachment for the Government. His allusion to the law securing the miner a title to his claim and leaving the mines open to pre-emption according to local rules, was greeted with applause. He congratulated his audience that while Congress had been so generous it had also been just, for it had provided for the protection in all their legal rights of the millions whose emancipation resulted from the rebellion of their masters. He contended that the Congressional policy of reconstruction was marked by that magnanimity which ever characterized a noble people. It was not meant for punishment but for protection. He regretted the defection of the President, whose head, he thought had been turned by the exercise of supreme dictatorial power over eleven rebel States for six months before Congress met. This last led him to believe that he could with equal ease impose his will upon the loyal States, and dictate the policy to be pursued by the law-making power to which rightfully belongs the settlement of the question at issue. He had become obstinate and self-willed, and took no counsel from loyal men. It was painful for the speaker to break with the President—he tried to stay with him, believing that he would ultimately agree with Congress; but he saw him drifting gradually away from the party which elected him, and whose principles were dear to the millions of loyal people—he saw the White House crowded with rebel Generals and Congressmen whose counsel was preferred to that of Union representatives, and he was compelled to leave him. Peace and good feeling might have been restored at the South without harshness, yet without a surrender of the principles and guarantees advocated by Congress, had not the President needlessly set his face against Congress and thereby encouraged the South to renew the old struggle for power. The Executive, he said, attempted to govern independent of Congress, and finding himself opposed, he is trying to build up a party to break down the one that elected him, composed of the late rebels and the remainder of the old Democratic party. Mr. Stewart here entered into a lengthy argument, showing that the measure which provoked the opposition of the President contemplated only the protection of the freedmen in their rights as men, equal before the law—which protection was as much a national obligation as the war debt; the exclusion of leading rebels from office, in accordance with Johnson's own original idea; the changing of representation so that the South should not gain by its treason; and the security of the national credit. Unless the Constitutional Amendment is adopted, the Southern Representatives, acting with Northern Democrats, would have power to repeal the statutes intended to accomplish the ends enumerated; the negroes would be left in a condition worse than slavery, the rebels would have a larger representation in proportion to their voting population than the loyal States, and there would be danger that the rebel debt be annexed to the Union debt. The nation cannot ignore its obligations to the oppressed but always loyal black man without shame and disaster. The Government is also under an obligation to protect the white Unionists of the South. The President has violated this obligation by preferring pardoned rebels as officers to superintend the work of reconstruction. Hence there is now no freedom of speech nor security of life for Southern Unionists, and they may be massacred as, at Memphis and New Orleans by pardoned rebels. The speaker regretted that Mr. Seward indorsed the President, and attributed his action in this to age, debility, and disappointed ambition. He alluded to the President's tour, claiming that Grant and Farragut are with the Union party, and not with the Philadelphia arrangement, and that no Presidential devices or rebel and Copperhead fraternizations will succeed in defeating the will of the loyal people to have the Union reconstructed on principles of justice, equality and permanent freedom. Any man who stands in the way of their purpose will be ground to powder. He satirized the Philadelphia Convention as a set of cowardly dummies, keeping silence because the President told them they must. It was not even permitted to pray for the President, lest some of the delegates might say Davis instead of Johnson. Mr. Stewart predicted the triumph of the Union tickets in the Eastern elections, and besought his audience to encourage their Eastern brethren by sending them news of a Union victory in San Francisco to-day. He was frequently and loudly applauded.

ADDRESS BY SENATOR NYE.

When Mr. Stewart concluded, Senator Nye was vociferously called for. Gov. Low introduced him very handsomely, as the successor of Col. Baker, in the championship of freedom and as worthy to wear Baker's title of "The Grey Eagle of Liberty." The Senator, who has made a distinguished reputation throughout the Union by his masterly speeches at Washington and Baltimore, was received with universal and long-continued cheering—the men rising and swinging their hats, the women waving their handkerchiefs. Mr. Nye began one of the most eloquent and effective speeches ever heard in this city, with a beautiful exordium upon the grand destiny of America, as the home of the freest and noblest race of time. He said it was written with the finger of God that this country shall be free, and whoever doubts is an infidel. Universal freedom, twin-sister to intelligence, will reign on this continent. No machinations, no faithlessness, no tricks of expediency, can defeat destiny. The will of a people devoted to freedom will sweep away all powers and Presidents that oppose it. The speaker said that he would not eulogize Congress, but he was proud to be a member of a body which had passed the Freedmen's Bureau and Civil Rights bills—measures which would always be remembered with honor for their benevolence and justice. Yet they had to be passed over the veto of the President. They were rejected by the very man who promised to be the Moses of the black race. The trouble was that Johnson had swapped Israelites on the way—swapping the negroes and taking up the Copperheads. [This sally was greeted by uproarious laughter and applause, which frequently broke out anew.] The speaker thought the archangel Michael and Lucifer would never quarrel for this modern Moses' bones on the top of Mt. Nebo. He charged that the tendency if not the purpose of the President's policy was to give the country into the hands of the men who had laughed at Union defeats during the war; but the people would never consent to this. He held the President responsible for the murder of freedmen and Southern Unionists by rebels in Memphis and New Orleans. He predicted that before next month Jeff. Davis would be paroled, that he would never be punished, and that next winter he would be in the lobby of the Senate at Washington, where the bloody pirate Semmes was to be seen at the late session. [This prediction caused a profound sensation among the audience. The speaker expressed his conviction that the leading traitors ought to be hanged, or the law against treason repealed. He thought if Davis was not hanged, hemp had been grown in vain. We should gain by hanging him a vindication of the offended majesty of the law, and a warning for all time against treason to the Republic. [These sentiments were loudly applauded.] The speaker paid his respects to the Philadelphia Convention in a very humorous and satirical manner. He compared it to a gathering of mutes. They seemed to understand one another, although they said nothing. When the platform was introduced one unsophisticated delegate moved that it be printed and laid upon the seats of members for examination! But Doolittle put his finger to his lips, the motion was rejected and silence prevailed. It would not do to let the rebels and Copperheads (who had the majority,) express themselves; think of the consequences if Stephens and Cobb had been let loose in that Convention! They would have been talking yet! And so all were gagged at the order of the President. The speaker went through a pantomime to carry out his illustration of the mutes, convulsing his audience with laughter. He acknowledged that the Convention astonished him with one remarkable display of power. The President had done what he thought only the Almighty could do—he had made Doolittle hold his tongue a whole day! Discussing the Congressional plan of reconstruction, Mr. Nye said it demanded no greater hardship than that the rebels should come back cured of their leprosy, and of their haughtiness. They don't come back like the prodigal son, but with the defiant spirit with which they went into rebellion. They went to war, defying the Government to keep them in, and now they defy us to keep them out. They can't be admitted in that way. The Union party will sustain Congress in keeping them unrepresented until every essential guarantee is secured, and no faction, no combination or political odds or ends, would avail to destroy that noble organization. Time-servers and pap-seekers might leave it, weak-kneed Republicans might leave it; but the great column would move on with resistless might. He predicted the triumph of the party in the Eastern elections, and closed with a plea for a strong Union effort in this city.

THE DEATH OF GENERAL STEVENS.—The army was retreating from Centerville. The battle was fought against a rebel force that had penetrated five miles nearer Washington than our rear, and was moving to strike upon the flank. Gen. Stevens' division, the advance of Reno's corps, was on the left of the road taken by the trains, and intercepted the enemy. He saw that the rebels must be beaten back at once, or during the night they would stampede the wagons, and probably so disconcert our retreat that the last divisions would fall a prey to their main force. He decided to attack immediately, at the same time sending back for support. Having made his dispositions, he led the attack on foot at the head of the Eighty-Eighth (Highlanders). Soon meeting a withering fire, and the color sergeant, Sandy Campbell, a grizzled old Scotchman, being wounded, they faltered. One of the color-guard took up the flag, when the General snatched it from him. The wounded Highlander at his feet cried, "For God's sake, General, don't you take the colors; they'll shoot you if you do!" The answer was, "Give me the colors! if they don't follow now they never will"; and he sprang forward, crying, "We are all Highlanders! follow, Highlanders! forward, my Highlanders!" The Highlanders did follow their Scottish chief, but while sweeping forward a ball struck him on his right temple. He died instantly. An hour afterwards, when taken up, his hands were still clenched around the flag-staff.

A moment after seizing the colors, his son, Capt. Hazzard Stevens, fell wounded, and cried to his father that he was hurt. With but a glance back, that Roman father said: "I cannot attend to you now, Hazzard. Corporal Thompson, see to my boy."—Frank Moore's "Anecdotes of the War."

CHEERING FOR JEFF. DAVIS.—The New Orleans Tribune of a late date contains the following:

"We see that the cheers for Jeff. Davis on Monday very much embarrass our 'reconstructed secessionists.' We will therefore add new details to the facts. Cheers for Davis were given at different times, but mainly around Dr. Dostie's body, which was then believed to be a corpse, and was lying near the corner of Canal and Dryades streets. Several spectators in the Hall, who were taken in custody by police officers, made their escape from the assassins by the officers exclaiming: 'Don't touch him; I know him!' 'Kill the d—d Yankee s— of a b—.' 'No, I know him; he is a rebel.' Several lives were saved in that way. As to the firing upon the Federal flag, and the subsequent tearing of the flag, the evidence is conclusive. The flag itself was pretty good evidence, as it was in rags."

NEUTRALITY.—They are talking of revising the code of neutrality in England and adapting it to the altered condition of things in general, but more especially the thing known as John Bull. According to the Union's dispatch the London Times, "in view of the questions arising between England and America, growing out of the recent war in the United States and the more recent raids by the Fenians in Canada," urges the British Government to take into immediate consideration the feasibility, if not necessity, of so extending the provisions of neutrality laws as to hold the different Governments to a strict account for all acts in defiance of that law committed by the subjects of each.

"The action of Andrew Johnson in the New Orleans matter has "settled" the New York Sun, heretofore favorable to "my policy." The Sun revolts from sustaining his instructions to Attorney General Herron. Mr. Johnson's objection to the Convention—that it was not composed of delegates chosen from the people of the whole State—is well disposed of by the Sun, which reminds him that "at the time of its election three-fourths of the said people—of the able bodied class—were fighting to destroy the Union and hunting down such men as Andrew Johnson."

A BEGGARLY ACCOUNT.—Doolittle's "great speech" at the Wisconsin Johnson Convention was listened to by less than three hundred persons, after no end of drumming to get a mass convention and a big crowd. Nearly all of these were curious but unsympathizing Republicans.

JEFF. DAVIS FOR PRESIDENT.—There was a political meeting at Elizabethtown (Ky.), just before the late election, which was addressed by John M. Harlan and Hamilton Pope. At this meeting, the Louisville Journal informs us, an extraordinary scene was presented, which is thus described by that paper:

* * * Harlan followed in a speech of two hours and a half, speaking as very few men are able to speak. In the midst of his strongest and most eloquent utterances loud cries were raised of "Hurrah for Duvall!" Harlan paused and asked mildly, but impressively, why they were in favor of Duvall. "Tell me," said he, "if it is not because he was for the rebellion?" "Yes, that's so," was the prompt answer. "Then you were for the rebellion?" "Yes, yes, yes!" "Are you for rebellion now?" "We would go for rebellion now if we thought we could succeed." Harlan thanked and complimented them for their candor, and then added: "Suppose Jeff. Davis and Andrew Johnson shall be the opposing candidates for the Presidency in 1868, which of the two will you support?" They hesitated to respond. Harlan said, "You have been very candid, and I venture to hope that you will still be so. Speak out! Which will you go for—Johnson, or Davis?" Thereupon the loud answer came, "Davis! Davis! Davis!" Old men, the most substantial citizens of Elizabethtown and Hardin, joined in the shout. Again Harlan thanked them for their candor, telling them they were the most candid men of their party that he had talked to in his canvass.

Very shortly afterward, Harlan not having concluded his remarks, the pro-rebel portion of the audience made a rush toward the stand, and shouted, "Wilson! Wilson! Wilson!" this Wilson being a pro-rebel lawyer of Elizabethtown. A Union officer or soldier present exclaimed, "I have heard that kind of shout before. I heard it raised more than once in the rebel army. It is exactly the shout with which the rebel troops always went into battle." Wilson ascended the stand. Sam. Thomas rose and objected to his making a speech. "This," he said, calmly, "is our meeting. We would willingly have divided time with you if you had asked us to do so; but you did not, and we have made our own arrangement, which must not be broken up or disturbed.

The pro-rebels then proposed that all who wished to hear Wilson should go to the Court-house. About one-third went.

This Duvall party, which favors Jeff. Davis for President, was supported by the Cincinnati Enquirer, by George H. Pendleton, and by C. L. Vallandigham, leaders of the Ohio Democracy. And these also were in favor of the Philadelphia Johnson Convention.

A BLOW-HARD.—As a sample of Johnson's consistency in showing so much leniency to reconstructed traitors and Jeff. Davis in particular, we give the following extract from a speech of his, delivered in Washington on the 5th of April, 1865:

"The query naturally arises now, who has been engaged in this bloody opposition to the Government? The answer is, the man you have fed, clothed, educated, whose sole reputation and early honors were won under your colors; him we find with the sword given him by the Government and the country to defend them; him we find plunging it into his mother's bosom. [Voices from the crowd—'hang him!'] You say hang him. I know men in this country are hung if they murder one man; but what shall be done to him who tries to murder a nation? In Solon's code no law was written against parricide. The Athenians treated it as a crime none could be so base as to commit. Mr. Davis sought to kill his mother. [Voices—'Hang him, hang him!'] Yes, I say hang him twenty times."

TO THE UNFORTUNATE.

NEW REMEDIES, NEW REMEDIES.

Dr. Gibbon's Dispensary,

617 KEARNEY STREET, NEAR COMMERCIAL, San Francisco. Established in 1854, for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases, such as Gonorrhea, Gleet, Stricture, Syphilis in all its forms, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, etc. Skin Diseases (of years standing) and Ulcerated Legs successfully treated.

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons, both male and female, are there who are suffering out a miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgences, or from virus absorbed into the system! Look at their pallid, bloated and disfigured faces and their broken-down constitutions, disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life. In this horrid situation thousands suffer until death closes the scene. Let parents, guardians, friends, attend to those who are suffering with any of these horrible life-destroying maladies, and if they are cured for and cured before it be too late. Send them immediately to Doctor Gibbon, a physician who has made private disease his especial study for years, and who is certain to cure the most inveterate cases without mercury or any injurious drugs. It is important to those who are afflicted, or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends, to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities, publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days, imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places. Be therefore careful and make strict inquiry, or you may fall into the hands of these charlatans.

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Emissions, the consequence of self-abuse, the solitary vice, or depraved sexual indulgence, is practiced by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing, with unerring certainty, the following train of morbid symptoms, unless combatted by scientific medical measures, viz: Sallow countenance, dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots, uneasiness about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confused vision, blunted intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers, a dislike to form new acquaintances, a disposition to shun society, loss of memory, hectic flushes; pimples and various eruptions about the face, furred tongue, feted breath, coughs, consumption, night sweats, monomania and frequent insanity. If relief is not obtained, should apply immediately, either in person or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease, which never fails in effecting a quick and radical cure. Dr. G. will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of this complaint by either of the San Francisco quacks.

DOCTOR GIBBON is responsible, and will give to each patient a written instrument, binding himself to a speedy, radical and permanent cure, or make no charge.

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME by addressing a letter to Doctor Gibbon, stating case, symptoms, length of time the disease has continued, and have medicines promptly forwarded, free from damage and curiosity, to any part of the country, with full and plain directions for use, for Ten Dollars, sent in registered letter or through Wells, Fargo & Co.
